

I Have listened to Chairman Powell being interviewed on several programs recently and fair to understand his thinking. I am distressed that we already have too few owners of radio stations (with the example of Clear Channel) offering a very biased and ultra conservative view of life with their talk programs. I support leaving things as they are, especially in light of the desire of the public to not create more monopolies. The american people desire to have local programing which comes with local ownership. Please listen to the people.
